We'll Work It Out, Nixon Assures Tri-State Of Vietnam 'Breakthrough'

By TOM M. MILLER

WASHINGTON — By declaring a "new era of peace," President Richard M. Nixon told a cheering crowd here Thursday night that he will do his best to "save us from the agony of achieving peace with honor and no acco-

"There has been a significant breakthrough," the President said at the outset of a 24-minute address to a crowd of 2,280 people at the President William Howard Taft High School gymnasium here. An estimated 5,000 people crowded outside to hear the speech via loudspeakers.

Nixon told the crowd the news earlier Thursday that he was a "new era of peace" in Vietnam and that the "era of peace" had now been extended to the rest of the world.

"Peace is in the process of unfolding in the world," he said. "Peace is a process of reaching an understanding between the world and the United States."

"We must make every effort to bring peace to the world," he said. "We must make every effort to bring peace to the world."}

By TOM M. MILLER

"Peace is in the process of unfolding in the world," he said. "Peace is a process of reaching an understanding between the world and the United States."

"We must make every effort to bring peace to the world," he said. "We must make every effort to bring peace to the world."}

A smiling President Nixon gestured to make a point during his speech Thursday night at an address at the President William Howard Taft High School in Southeast Washington. The address was given by a group of 1,000 people who had been assembled in a gymnasium to hear the President speak. More than 3,000 people jammed into the gymnasium to hear the President and an estimated 10,000 more listened outside.

Peace Settlement Aids Nixon's Goals

By WILSON RUSSELL

A milestone in the history of the Vietnam war was reached today as the United States and the Viet Cong reached an agreement on a peace settlement. The agreement was reached after nearly three years of negotiations, and it is believed that it will end the war in Vietnam.

The agreement was reached after nearly three years of negotiations, and it is believed that it will end the war in Vietnam.

The agreement was reached after nearly three years of negotiations, and it is believed that it will end the war in Vietnam.

The agreement was reached after nearly three years of negotiations, and it is believed that it will end the war in Vietnam.

The agreement was reached after nearly three years of negotiations, and it is believed that it will end the war in Vietnam.